Covid information

The world of events has become uncertain since the outbreak of the Covid pandemic in spring 2020. The following rules apply to the Cannabinoid Conference 2022 in relation to the Covid situation and other epidemics/pandemics:

Safety first!

The Cannabis Medicinalis GmbH is taking the Covid situation very seriously and planning the Cannabinoid Conference 2022 in close collaboration with the relevant responsible authorities. There will be a limited number of people inside, sanitizer dispensers at all the key points and mandatory mask wearing and testing, depending on the situation.

Implementation

The Cannabinoid Conference 2022 will go ahead if events for min. 500 people per day are permitted. (The conference is being planned to accommodate 1000 people per day.)

Cancellation

When booking a stand or sponsorship package, 10% of the invoice total will be retained as a reservation fee and risk contribution. Should the event be cancelled, bookings without any additional costs can be transferred across to the date of the postponed event (tba) or else the booking can be cancelled. If a cancellation is requested, 90% of the invoice total will be refunded immediately and 10% will be retained by the Cannabis Medicinalis GmbH to cover expenses.

Visitors have the same option as exhibitors and sponsors but will be refunded 100% of their fee in the event of a cancellation.

Quarantine / Travel Bans

If travel is not possible due to quarantine regulations or travel bans, we request that customers contact us as soon as possible to find a solution.

Illness

In the event of illness, exhibitors, sponsors and visitors have the option to transfer their tickets to others from their company. A refund cannot be guaranteed in this case.
